From Hobby to Pocket Money: Young Entrepreneurs in the Making!

Have you ever thought that your favourite hobby could become a little business?
Being a child is about having fun, learning new things and discovering what you enjoy. But did you know that a hobby can also be a wonderful way to earn some pocket money? You don't have to wait until you are an adult to start thinking like an entrepreneur!
An entrepreneur is someone who comes up with an idea, turns it into something useful, and works hard to make it successful. With a little creativity, patience and help from a trusted adult, you could be on your way to starting your very own mini-business.

🎨 Hobbies That Could Earn You Pocket Money

1. Arts and crafts
Do you love drawing, painting, making bracelets or creating beautiful things? You could make friendship bracelets, personalised cards, keyrings, bookmarks or handmade gifts and sell them to family and friends.

2. Baking little treats
If you enjoy baking, you could make cupcakes, biscuits or homemade treats with an adult's help. You might even take orders for birthdays or special occasions. Remember to follow food hygiene rules and check for allergies.

3. Gardening
Do you enjoy being outdoors? Try growing flowers, herbs or vegetables. You could sell small plants, grow herbs for neighbours or help someone look after their garden for a little pocket money.

4. Pet care
If you love animals, you could offer to help a trusted neighbour feed their pets, refill water bowls or brush a friendly dog. Always have your parent's permission and supervision, especially when working with animals you don't know.

5. Car washing
A simple car wash could be a great way to earn money from family members. With buckets, cloths and adult supervision, you can help keep the family cars clean while earning a little extra.

6. Digital creativity
Are you good at designing pictures, invitations or birthday cards on a computer or phone? With permission from your parents, you could create simple designs for family members or people they know. Never share personal information or communicate with strangers online without adult supervision.

7. Selling second-hand treasures
You might have books, toys or games that you no longer use but that are still in good condition. With your parents' permission, you could sell them and put the money towards something you really want.

💡 How to Start Your Own Mini-Business

You don't need a lot of money to get started. Begin small and learn as you go!
Step 1: Choose something you enjoy doing.
Step 2: Think about who might want to buy your product or service.
Step 3: Work out how much your materials will cost.
Step 4: Decide on a fair selling price with help from an adult.
Step 5: Tell family and trusted friends about your little business.
Step 6: Save some of your profit instead of spending everything you earn.

Exam Stress? Let's Have Some Fun!

Fun ideas to make the last two months of school exciting!

Hey, Kids! 🌈🧒

Can you believe there are only two months left before school closes for the December holidays? The year has flown by! But before you pack away your schoolbooks and start dreaming about swimming pools, ice cream, and Christmas presents, there is still one little mountain to climb — EXAMS! 📚✏️

We know that studying can sometimes make you feel tired, worried, or even a little grumpy. But guess what? Your brain needs a break too! Taking some time to relax and have fun can help you feel refreshed and ready to learn again.

So, let's turn those stressful days into something a little more exciting!

🌟 7 Fun Things to Do Between Studying

1. 🎨 Have a 15-minute art challenge!

Grab some paper and pencils and draw the funniest animal you can imagine. What about a giraffe with roller skates or a chicken wearing sunglasses? Let your imagination run wild!

2. 🍓 Become a mini master chef!

Ask Mom, Dad, or another trusted adult to help you make a colourful fruit salad, decorate biscuits, or create funny faces using healthy snacks. Remember, a little creativity makes everything taste better!

3. 💃 Dance like nobody is watching!

Put on your favourite song and dance for five minutes. Make up your own silly dance moves. You might look funny, but that is exactly the point!

4. 🌳 Go on a mini nature adventure!

Step outside and see how many different birds, flowers, leaves, or insects you can spot. Fresh air and a little movement can help you feel calmer and more refreshed.

5. 😂 Tell a joke challenge!

Challenge your family to see who can tell the funniest joke. Here is one to get you started:

Why did the student eat his homework?

Because the teacher said it was a piece of cake! 🤣

6. 🧩 Create your own treasure hunt!

Hide five small objects around the house or garden and write clues for someone in your family to follow. You can even make the final prize a homemade certificate for being the best treasure hunter!

7. 💌 Write a letter to your future self!

7. 💌 Write a letter to your future self!

Write down three things you want to achieve before the end of the year. Add one thing you are proud of and one thing you are excited about during the holidays. Keep your letter somewhere safe and read it again when school closes.

📚 The Secret to Surviving Exam Season

Try studying for about 25 minutes, then take a short break. Stretch your legs, drink some water, or do something fun before returning to your books. Make sure you get enough sleep, eat healthy meals, and ask for help if you don't understand something.

Remember, you don't have to be perfect. Do your best, take one subject at a time, and be proud of the effort you put in.

❤️‍🩹A Little Message Just for You

Dear Kids, exams are important, but they are not the only thing that matters. You are important too! Your happiness, health, friendships, and dreams matter just as much.

So, keep studying, keep smiling, and remember to make time for a little laughter every day.

You've got this! Two months to go — let's finish the school year with happy hearts, brave minds, and lots of fun! 🎉🌈

Kom ons kleur in saam met ons...

A Message to Our Young Ladies: Growing Up with Confidence, Respect and Self-Love, Young Lady, Your Future Matters!

Growing up can be exciting, but it can also be confusing. The teenage years bring many changes, new friendships, first relationships, peer pressure and decisions that can influence your future. Unfortunately, not every young girl has a parent or trusted adult who feels comfortable talking openly about these important matters.

That is why our community needs to come together to guide, encourage and protect our young ladies.

1. Learn to love and respect yourself

You do not have to change who you are to fit in with others. You do not need expensive clothes, a perfect body or thousands of followers on social media to be beautiful. Your worth is not measured by your appearance, your popularity or what other people think of you. You are valuable just as you are.

2. Choose your friends wisely

Good friends respect your decisions, encourage your dreams and make you feel safe. Be careful of people who pressure you into doing things you are uncomfortable with, whether it is drinking, taking drugs, skipping school or engaging in risky behaviour. You can say no, even when everyone else says yes.

3. Never feel pressured to prove your love

A boy who truly respects you will not pressure you to do anything you are not ready for. You never owe anyone physical affection, intimate pictures or sexual activity to keep a relationship. Your body belongs to you, and your boundaries must be respected.

If someone threatens you, manipulates you or makes you feel afraid, speak to a trusted adult. Love should never be about control, fear or humiliation.

4. Be careful what you share online

Think before posting photographs, sharing personal information or sending private messages. Once an intimate picture has been shared, you may lose control over where it goes. Never allow anyone to threaten or blackmail you with photographs. It is not your fault if someone abuses your trust, and help is available.

5. Protect your education and your dreams

Your education is an investment in your future. Work hard at school, discover your talents and believe that you can build a good life for yourself. Do not allow temporary problems, relationships or peer pressure to steal the opportunities you deserve.

You do not need to have your entire future planned out as a teenager. Take one step at a time and keep learning.

6. Understand your body and your health

Puberty brings physical and emotional changes, and it is perfectly normal to have questions. Learn about menstruation, personal hygiene, healthy relationships, consent and sexual health. If you are worried about pregnancy, sexually transmitted infections or anything happening to your body, speak to a healthcare professional or a trusted adult. There is no shame in asking questions.

7. Do not be afraid to ask for help

You may sometimes feel embarrassed, frightened or worried that someone will judge you. But carrying a difficult situation alone can make it even harder. Find a trustworthy adult, such as a parent, relative, teacher, school counsellor or healthcare professional, who will listen and help you.

If someone hurts you, threatens you or makes you feel unsafe, remember that you deserve protection. You do not have to face it alone.

8. Respect yourself enough to walk away

Not every friendship will last, not every relationship is meant to be, and not everyone will understand your choices. That is okay. Learn to walk away from situations that damage your confidence, threaten your safety or take you away from the person you want to become.

A Message to Parents and Our Community

Dear parents, grandparents, teachers and community members, our young ladies need more than rules. They need guidance, honest conversations, patience and love. Let us create an environment where a teenage girl feels safe enough to ask questions without fear of being shouted at or judged.

Sometimes, a simple conversation can prevent a young person from making a decision that could change her life. Listen when she speaks. Ask how she is feeling. Teach her about respect, responsibility, safety and self-worth.

And to every young lady reading this: You are not defined by your mistakes, your past or somebody else's opinion of you. You have a future worth protecting, dreams worth pursuing and a voice that deserves to be heard.

Walk with confidence, make thoughtful choices, protect your peace and never be afraid to ask for help.

Let us raise a generation of young women who know their worth, understand their rights and have the courage to build a brighter future for themselves.

Fun Facts that Children should know!

🐝 Honey can last a very, very long time!
When stored properly, honey can remain edible for an incredibly long time because it has properties that make it difficult for bacteria to grow.

🐘 Elephants can't jump!
They can run, swim and move surprisingly quickly, but all four of their feet cannot leave the ground at the same time.

🦈 Sharks are older than trees!
Sharks have been swimming in Earth's oceans for hundreds of millions of years—long before the first trees appeared.

🍌 Bananas are berries—but strawberries aren't!
Botanically speaking, bananas fit the definition of a berry, while strawberries do not. Strange, isn't it?

🦋 Butterflies taste with their feet!
They have taste receptors on their feet that help them identify plants.
Both humans and giraffes usually have seven cervical

🐌 Some snails can sleep for a very long time.
Certain species can enter long periods of dormancy when conditions aren't suitable.

🌈 A rainbow is actually a full circle!
From the ground, we usually see only part of it. From high enough above the ground, such as from an aircraft, a rainbow can sometimes appear circular.

🌙 The Moon is slowly moving away from Earth.
It moves away by about 3.8 centimetres each year.

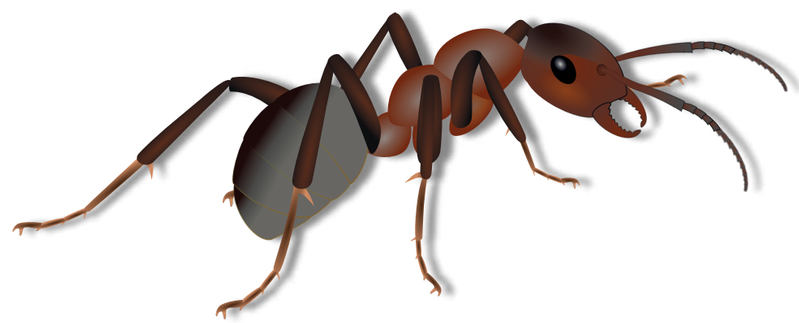

🐧 Not all penguins live in freezing Antarctica.
Some penguin species live in much warmer places, including parts of southern Africa!

🦉 Owls can't move their eyes like we do.
Instead, their eyes are held in place, so they turn their heads to look around.

🐜 Ants are incredibly strong for their size.
Some species can carry objects many times heavier than their own body weight.
🤔 NOW IT'S YOUR TURN!
Pick your favourite fact and tell someone else about it.
